It all starts HERE...

It all starts here. This is where the journey begins and this is where our futures are determined. From here we go on to college or to a career.

It all starts here. Next we'll be starting a family of our own. We will watch as our children grow, learn, and develop all on their own.

It all starts here. This is the calm before the storm. This is the last chance to be young, playful, and immature. After this we become self-reliant, independent, and adults.

It all starts here. From hence forth we will become the role models and the active citizens. Our voices won't only be heard, but they will count as something.

It all starts here. We are the next generation. We are the ones who will make the difference.

It all starts here...

education for the MASSES

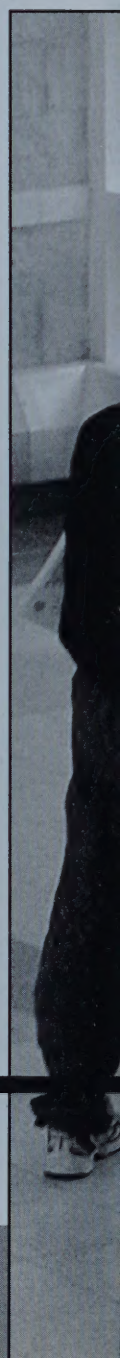
Day after day, month after month, year after year, the teachers at Tantasqua take on the never-ending role of educating the eager young minds of tomorrow. Education is ever-changing with new demands coming down upon schools from the State Department of Education continuously. The Massachusetts Frameworks and the MCAS test have restructured the way teachers are teaching as well as the curriculum being taught. The teachers at Tantasqua should be commended for their role in making sure that the students here have the opportunity to achieve very high standards in their own education. Students are being prepared for the MCAS test, for SAT's, and college as well as a future in the workforce.

"Our faculty is the driving force behind the school. Without them, Tantasqua would just be a building."

Tantasqua is very lucky to have such a dedicated faculty. On any given day, one can find many teachers still at school at 4:00pm working with students on coursework, after school activities and clubs or coaching sports. In addition, teachers chaperone most every event that occurs at Tantasqua, many of which happen during the weekends or evenings; during the teachers' own time. We have a very dedicated staff here at Tantasqua. Our faculty is the driving force behind the school. Without them, Tantasqua would just be a building. The teachers make Tantasqua what it is - one of the finest educational institutions in Massachusetts.



Mr. Berthiume takes his class out into the field to do a little Thoreauvian work.

Ms. Ballard, Ms. Duane, and Ms. Reece-Harrell are all smiles as they finally get to go home after an enthralling day at Tantasqua.

After stealing a box of markers from the utility closet, Ms. Fleming is put behind bars with a $1,000 bail.

Every morning these wonderful teachers greet you in the main lobby. You can hear their calls of "Good morning!" and "Throw out that coffee right now! I don't care if you just bought it!"

Taking a class picture in the shape of the numbers of their graduation year has become a tradition at Tantasqua. Organizing 250 students into the shape of an '04 is no easy task. Within 20 minutes, these seniors had it down! Nice job guys!

This closeup of the '0 shows that these seniors really did learn how to make a straight line in elementary school.

A closeup of the '4 shows a group of seniors waving goodbye to their Junior year and hello to their Senior year.

"It's not just about being a Senior... No wait - actually it is!"

Dedicating for Educating

Henry Adams once said, "A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops." To Tantasqua students, this holds more than true. The teachers at Tantasqua go above and beyond their job, spending countless hours preparing for classes, correcting papers, and helping struggling students grasp the concepts in their classes. This year, the 2004 Yearbook is being dedicated to five great teachers who are retiring from Tantasqua.

These five individuals sacrificed their time, both during and after school, and gave one hundred percent effort in helping to educate young minds and lead them to greatness. The teachers who will be leaving Tantasqua at the end of this school year are Dr. Suzanne Carroll, Mrs. Diane Conway, Mrs. Rita Lundberg, Mr. Peter McDoanld and Mr. Francis Simanski.

It is with much regret that Tantasqua says goodbye to each of you, but just as you taught your students that the future is bright, we wish that you will retain the same bright future. With hope toward your future success and a happy retired life, we thank you for your years of service to Tantasqua and want let you know that your affects on students can never be expressed. The lessons learned from each of you will last a lifetime. With sighs and reluctance to your departure, we the students of Tantasqua, thank you for everything you have done to inspire our minds and we dedicate this yearbook to you. We hope that the students that you have encountered over your many years of teaching will remain in your hearts as you will remain in theirs.

suzanne CARROLL

Doctor Suzanne Carroll has been teaching for over 30 years, 23 of which she has spent educating the students of Tantasqua. Dr. Carroll was once a sister of St. Joseph. Being in the teaching order, it was expected of her to teach. Her fondest memory of being at Tantasqua is the "Kiss the Pig" contest where she had Mr. Parker on a leash dressed as a pig (this was for a school fundraiser). Her "not so great" memory is the faculty auction. She was bought by one of her classes and sold off to a technical class (which made her do anything they wanted). Dr. Carroll plans to read, knit, and volunteer at the elementary school to help prepare kids for the MCAS exam in her free time.

diane CONWAY

Diane Conway was raised in a "teacher" family. Becoming a teacher was something she had wanted to do since she was in school, and it also kept the family tradition going. She spent 12 of her 35 teaching years here at Tantasqua, and has many wonderful memories of her department and of the students. Mrs. Conway will be doing some traveling and golfing in her extra time.

rita LUNDBERG

Rita Lundberg began teaching because of her desire to make a difference in the lives of young people. She has been teaching for 33 years, 27 of them have been spent in Tantasqua. Her most fond memories of Tantasqua are those of the Senior Variety Shows from many years ago, when they portayed the true Tantasqua spirit. In her retirement, Mrs. Lundberg plans to sleep, read, garden, and travel with all the extra time that she'll gain.

peter McDONALD

Peter McDonald has dedicated 38 years of his life to teaching, all of which were at Tantasqua. His father was the major influence in his beginning a career in teaching. He coached soccer for 20 years, which is only one of his many fond memories here at Tantasqua. He is not exactly sure of what he is going to do in his spare time because as of now, he hasn't thought about it too much.

francis SIMANSKI

Francis Simanski was called to teaching by President John F. Kennedy, who said, "We all have an obligation to someone other than ourself, we have an obligation to this country." These were just the right words mark his 35 year teaching career. Mr. Simanski spent 21 years at Tantasqua, 15 of which were spent in administration as the Principal. He has many fond memories of his time here at Tantasqua. His worst memories, however, are of losing students and graduates to unfortunate accidents. Mr. Simanski plans to continue working, teaching, and golfing in his newly found "free time."

Paving the Way into the FUTURE

From the muddy paths still under construction to the freshly paved walkways of the new high school, our footprints showed our progression. Each step we completed, each transition we made, and each moment we had, we experienced as a class. From the beginning to the end, the Class of 2004 has paved the way. Leadership, originality, and unity are all characteristics that we possess; yet it is our ability to have a great time that defines us as a class. We successfully hosted the first concert with well-known artists. We gained timeless friendships, implemented unique ideas, studied with the finest teachers, and conducted numerous successful events. When we came across obstructions, we, the Class of 2004, continued to march on.

"Thank you Class of 2004 for helping build our unique road, and good luck with the path that lies ahead of you."

While our dusty footprints on the pavement faded quickly, the friendships and the memories we established throughout these years remain cemented. Our road as a class has its ups, its downs, its smooth straight-aways, and its unexpected turns; still it directs us to our ultimate destination: the future. It is here that our pathways diverge. It is at this fork that our high-school experiences become memories. Our relationships, our laughs, our spirit, and our knowledge mark our trail and will continue to be seen in our rear-view mirrors. Thank you Class of 2004 for helping build our unique road, and good luck with the path that lies ahead of you.

Honorary SENIOR

Shirley Denning

"Mrs. Denning has been my interpreter ever since I was mainstreamed into the public school system in the sixth grade. It has been an incredible six years! It is safe to say that she can read me like a book. She knows what I'm thinking with every expression that I make. While I'm excited about heading off to college, I am sad at what I am leaving behind. It will be strange being at college without her."

preparing to take the WHEEL

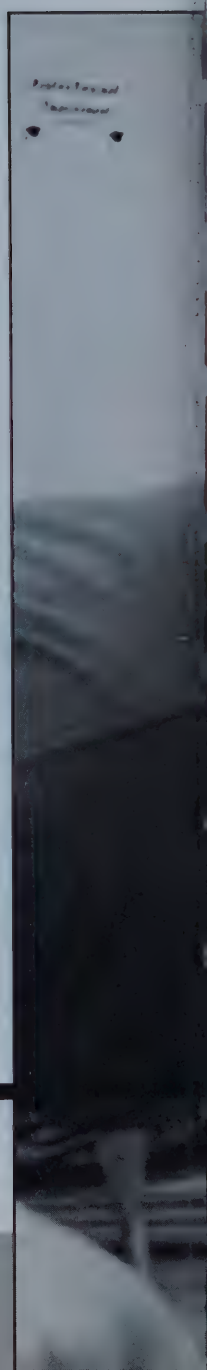
Ryan Russell gets ready to go out into the mean halls of Tantasqua to snap a few photos for yearbook.



A lot of people believe that the junior year in high school is supposed to be the hardest year. In some respects it is. We are treated more like adults and less like kids. Although this seems like it would be a good thing, it isn't. We have more responsibilites and teachers give us more work. For a lot of us, this is the year that we get our licenses and have to get real jobs. It is a struggle balancing our school work with our jobs, but we have learned to overcome this obstacle. We have done more than just learning how to manage our time wisely. We also gained financial know-how and can handle more work. We are now officially more prepared for our senior year. It seems like we have been waiting for ages for our senior year to come, but it's finally coming! Next year we will be the kings and queens of the school. We will step out of our mere peasant status. We will be able to go on our Senior trip and prom. We will have more fund-raising opportunities. This year we competed against the senior class in an entertainment book fund-raising race. We unfortunately lost, something that we won't allow to happen next year. Good luck next year Class of 2005!

Death Of A Friend
by Brian Emmanuel Apollo

When a friend dies, one isn't truly forgotten...

Specially when touched by the lives of others, without asking
From heart to heart, in such a loving, caring and unique fashion
When a friend dies, one isn't truly gone...
Though departed in the physical but remains in my mind's gate
With me forever, regardless of their untimely fate

When a friend dies, one isn't truly lost...
But is found and lives in the hearts of all of us
Simply because we love em'... the recipient of our trust

When a friend dies, one must travel alone...
Each one has his own special road, the route is created by each own
Without help, each must walk alone; to our final destination, home

When a friend dies, everyone becomes hurt...
Though no mere words can ever categorize the sorrow
It's good memories fused with time that helps us through tomorrow

When a friend dies, God is still in control...
Knowing that in the good or the bad, we are still blessed
Because our God, not us, knows what's truly best

Though how can it be explained when a friend dies, yet we still remain Until I see God and He makes it all clear -- at least I know He's always near I'll always remember my friend that I held dear, as I wipe away this tear

becoming the NAVIGATORS

Sophomore year is always a little less intimidating compared to freshman year. However, it is also less, how can I put it....notorious? While the seniors get all the pomp and glory, the juniors are being cool, and the freshmen are running around being lost, the sophomores are neglected and ignored, sort of like the middle child in a family. So when you are browsing through this section, enjoying the images of this "lost generation," don't worry if none of them strike you as familiar. It's just natural. They'll get their moment to shine next year. Every sophomore is anticipating next year when they will be an "upperclassman." Until then, they will be drooling during algebra, snoring during Spanish, and daydreaming about next year during science. Sophomores used to be the young 'uns in the school. Now they are somewhere in the middle, not freshmen, but not upperclassmen, either. So, this is the year they will want to be over and done with ASAP, so next year they will be just cool. Next year brings the junior-senior prom, more fund raising and just being looked up to by the underclassmen. The future looks promising as we head into our last two years here at Tantasqua.

"Every sophomore is anticipating next year when they will be an UPPERCLASSMAN."

starting on a NEW PATH

Coming to the High School for the first time, I immediately thought to myself, "Wow! What a big school!" Moving out of the Junior High was hard for some of us, but I can predict that most of us are now happy we made the transfer. All of the teachers are great people who try hard to make us feel welcome to the new school. Being here at the high school makes even us Freshmen feel more mature and responsible with all the privilages we earned this year. Some of us thought that it would be a hard first year because we went from being the kings and queens of the junior high to the court jesters of the high school. That isn't the case though. We don't feel less than the sophmores, juniors, or seniors. We have been treated like adults, something that most of us hadn't experienced before this year. We still have three more years here after this and I must say that I'm glad that my first year has been so great. One can only hope that this is a glimpse of a good future at Tantasqua.

If this wasn't for Allied Health, Kara Wassmer and Nick Natale would be in soooo much trouble right now.

Every morning you can see this group of students waiting for the bell to ring. They must really be devoted to their work.

Mmmm...cookies. Sure does smell good. I wonder if the culinary arts students would notice if I stole one or two; or maybe 23.

Pictured here is the last surviving student of photonics. I guess they should have been more careful with those lasers.

"Only two more digits and we're into the Pentagon. Mr. LaBelle was smart to change the name 'Computer Hacking' to 'Drafting'."

Carpentry, CAD, and Photonics, oh my! These are just a few of the shops available in the Technical Division here at Tantasqua. Comprised of Allied Health, Carpentry, Machine Shop, Computer Aided Drafting, Electrical, Photonics, Computer Technology, and Culinary Arts, the technical division boasts a wide variety of shops to choose from. The number of technical students is growing, as is the number of academic students taking the technical classes as electives. This is based mainly on the fact that the need for more technical jobs in the work force is on the rise. Also, because now freshmen don't have to leave their friends to be in the technical division, so more people get to join without losing the close contact they have with their friends.

"The number of technical students is growing, as is the number of academic students taking the technical classes as electives."

From working in the local hospital and nursing homes to building additions to people's homes and wiring them up, to trouble-shooting many problems the teachers have with their computers, the "techies" here are already out being of service to the community. These students are the individuals who will be helping us pave our way into the future.

improving One's Longevity

When I first entered the Allied Health program, I had my heart set on becoming a pharmacist. I was in the Allied Health Program because I knew that at the end of my senior year, I would have the opportunity to shadow a pharmacist 3 days a week for 2 blocks each day. I found becoming certified in CPR and first aid to be beneficial, but I had no interest whatsoever in becoming a Certified Nursing Assistant - sorry, giving people bed baths and emptying urinals was NOT for me. My first day on the nursing unit at Harrington made me start to rethink that though, as I found out giving bed baths wasn't really all that bad. Shadowing each of the departments at Harrington gave me a closer look into the different occupations available in the health field. It was my shadowing rotation that made me rethink what I wanted to do in life - maybe being a pharmacist wasn't for me after all. After going through all the departments, I decided that I would rather pursue an education in Occupational Therapy. The Allied Health program at Tantasqua has really broadened my horizons. I came in thinking I knew exactly what I was going to do in life, and have come to realize that's really not what I want at all. Although I am still undecided about whether or not to get my CNA certificate, I know that if I do get it, I will almost be guaranteed a well-paying job to support myself through college.

starting a New Project

The carpentry field is as wide open as space itself. As carpentry students working on a series of projects, both personal and public community service type, we become very knowledgable about what we may want to do with the rest of our lives. There are many things to learn in carpentry and over the course of the two years in the program, we have had the opportunity to learn from the best. Between Mr. Seguin and Mr. Napieralski, we couldn't ask for better leadership. They have helped us learn and perfect the basics and apply our knowledge to bigger and better things. Whether its working on a "colonial style" dog-house or creating a new dresser, all of the work that we do is done with accuracy and perfection. We have come to appreciate hard work and it shows in all that we do. As our senior year comes to a close, many of us will be heading out into the field to work in carpentry as others will head off to college to learn more about carpentry, building, architecture or whatever else suits them. No matter what path we choose, we all know that we have a solid background in carpentry and will be successful at whatever we do.

2 The students in carpentry made some great dog houses which they sold to teachers and to the community. There were two different styles and both looked great!

3 Be careful with that skill saw! Those powertools can be very dangerous when not used properly. Jeff Comeau obviously knows what he's doing.

4 Hammering... one of the many skills a carpenter must have. It looks easy - but give it a try yourself and you'll see there's more to it than meets the eye.

5 Working in carpentry is not all hands-on. Here students are working in the classroom learning the "mental" approach to the job.

6 Working with powertools and machinery can be very dangerous. In these shops, protective eyewear is a MUST!

keeping up with Technology

The Computer Technology program is a fun and interactive class. When I first joined the Technical Division in my freshman year, I wanted to immediately begin working in Computer Technology. I always had a fascination with computers, and Computer Technology helped to show how much there is to know and do! Ms. Bullock had been an incredible teacher, mentor, and friend. I will never forget the people I've worked with and helped out over the next two years. I couldn't be happier with what I chose for my technology major. I'm definitely going to miss it when I graduate.

cooking up a Masterpiece

The Culinary Arts program here at Tantasqua has continued to thrive throughout the year. Students within the program have the opportunity to not only learn how to cook and present food, but they also get to learn the ins and outs of the business end of being a chef. The Cornerstone Cafe continues to delight it's patrons with fine meals and desserts. Usually open on Tuesdays and Thursdays, the cafe offers fine cuisine varying from scrumptious Italian dishes to decadant pies and pastries. Students within the program are required to both prepare the food and to work in the cafe, thus giving them the wonderful experience of what it will be like to one day run their own food establishment. As with all of the technology programs here at Tantasqua, Culinary Arts has been evolving and will continue to evolve as the years go on.

Why did you choose Culinary Arts?

designing new Structures

Drafting at Tantasqua is one of the more unique and challenging courses. The combination of new industrial software and problem solving skills are the stepping stones to the technical commnity. Thankfully these steps aren't to big with the professional aid of the punctual Mr. Larry LaBelle (L-Unit). Drafting is a new and ever-expanding technical field with endless possibilities. Students in drafting let technological evolution take its course and discover the many different fields of study. Besides just AutoCAD, drafting also consists of interior design, animation, mechanical and civil engineering, inventor and architectural design. Being a self-paced course, students decide for themselves how far they want to go. Along the way they are encouraged and assisted by Mr. LaBelle to keep going and advance in their field. Students are urged to venture into some of the different careers that are presented to them to see what they like. Not only do the students get countless hours of hands on drafting, but they also get a chance to work outside of the classroom on drafting-related projects. These projects offer field experience and oppurtunity to make some dough. Drafting students represent the future of the technical community and the world.

doing a Little Wiring

After completing Tech II in 10th grade, we got a quick glimpse of what electrical was all about. When it came time to choose the shop we would be taking in the 11th grade, we chose the electrical shop. As juniors, we learned the basics of residential wiring and we started to look at the electrical code book. During the junior year, we spent about 2/3 of our time in the class room and the other 1/3 of our time in the shop. Although the classroom work wasn't the most enjoyable part of the program, it was needed for the projects we had to complete in the shop and most of all our senior year. As the junior year came to a close, the students left for summer break with a very broad knowledge of electrical wiring. Upon return to school for our senior year, we shifted our focus away from the classroom to job site experience. For three blocks out of the day, we would go out on the job. This is where we put the knowledge we gained from the classroom our junior year to work. We worked jointly with the carpentry shop to completely build and wire a house. Along with off-site training, we also began to learn about industrial wiring. The classroom work in the senior year was not as vigorous as it was in junior year, but it was still just as important. The path to becoming an electrician is not an easy one. All the students in the shop put in a lot of hard work and effort throughout the years here. The electrical shop had its ups and downs, but it was a very rewarding and enjoyable path to take. Some of the graduates of this program will be heading right out into the work force as electrical contractors, while others will be headed off to further their education.

2. Ok... If we stare at the machine long enough, maybe it'll fix itself.
3. Matt Mitchell looks so excited as he runs one of the many machines in the shop.
4. Read the directions carefully. You don't want to put that thing together incorrectly.
5. Not only do the students have to run the machines, but fixing them when they aren't working properly is par for the course as well.
6. Still trying to figure out what went wrong with the machine.

machining and Shaping Metal

As people walk through the hallway they may glance into the rooms, watch the tech students laughing or talking before the bell. But what they see is not what goes on behind the scenes. Each tech area is different, made up of different groups of people. As a shop kid, you learn not only to help yourself, but to help out others and work as a team on the machines. In my opinion the Machine Shop would have to be the most fun, yet also the most educational. The technology we work with is extremely advanced, making it one of the toughest courses that you can take. Yes, we still have manual machines, but we also have CNC, CAD, CAM, EDM machines. Each student is expected to complete a series of projects, along with classroom work assigned every week. And ask the students, 3 dimensional trig and blueprint interpretation are not as easy as they look.

playing with Lasers & Light

Photonics is the science and technology of harnessing light for practical applications. The field includes areas such as optics, lens design, fiber optics, holography and laser applications. This program is available to both academic and technical students, and consists of six courses: Intro to Light and Lasers, Intro to Fiber Optics, Geometrical and Physical Optics, Basic Detectors and Displays, Fiber Optics and Communication and Photonic Applications. In this program, students are drawn into the advanced world of photonics applications. The combination of small class sizes and abundant lab experience give students a unique opportunity that is both fun and educational. Photonics students work with lasers, fiber optic cabling, lenses, soldering irons, and various other optical and electronic tools and equipment. Additonally, multi-thousand dollar tools, like a spectrometer, fusion splicer and optical time domain reflectometer can often be found in use in the photonics laboratory. Some of the many projects that we have done in this class include: hologram production, a laser light show, fabricating our own laser, making a laser beam barcode scanner, laser leveling, making a camera obscura and gaining much experience with fiber optics and information transmission. The Tantasqua Photonics Program is part of the nation wide "Project Photon." The facility was even included in the quarterly newsletter! To say the least, this curriculum has provided its students with valuable knowledge and experience to aid them in their future endeavors.

"I chose photonics because it is a very intersting subject. It allows me to choose many different fields of study."

running loose on SOCIETY

After the bell rings at 2:02, it's time for students to go home. While some stay after for help or clubs, most people leave the building. They go to work, stay home, or go out with friends. Students find enjoyment at the mall, the movies, or even just hanging around at their (or a friend's) house. Different social events are also a fun pastime. Tantasqua provides a series of dances and get-togethers throughout the year. Homecoming, Prom, Mr. T and the school play are just a few of the many different activites one may wish to partake in. Not everyone goes, nor do some ever imagine going. Instead these people find it more enjoyable to stay home than to go out. Holidays and vacations are two more ways that people get out of school and can be themselves. Weekends and after shool just don't cut it. Christmas vacation, February vacation, April vacation, and summer vacation all supply a week to two weeks worth of relaxtion. So whether you have parties to attend, movies to watch, or money to make; the important thing is that you are doing what you do best; being yourself.

"Students find enjoyment at the mall, the movies, or even just hanging around at their (or a friend's) house."

"One, two, three, right, left, right. Do I turn now or... wait! I missed the turn," John Van Dolson thinks to himself as he tries to remember the dance steps.

dancing

the night away...

Homecoming is a special time of the year when we celebrate one of America's favorite past times, football. Even if your team isn't great the homecoming dance welcomes the new students as well. This year, The Emerald City was the theme and thanks to the homcoming committee, the decorations were beautiful. Many students attended the homecoming dance and through these photos the good times were captured. Thanks goes to to all of those who made the homecoming dance extra special this year, and when you think of homecoming you think of football! Due to all who were involved with the football this year, thanks as well.

Peter Skow and Lauren Fishcetti made the night one to put into the scrapbooks as they were crowned king and queen of the 2003-2004 Homecoming Dance. They led the way on the dance floor for what proved to be the beginning of a night full of dancing and fun. As with everything in life, all good things must come to an end and the Homecoming dance drew to a close. Until next year...

Chealsea Richard appears to be enjoying herself! It must have taken hours to get all those curls in her hair!

dressing to impress...

Tuxedos, sparkling gowns, top hats and canes, limousines, flowers, jewels and non-alcoholic champagne... The junior-senior prom is known for all of these things. It is a time for students to "clean up" and show off the handsome young men and beautiful young women that they are. It's also a time for dancing and just having fun. The 2003 prom was no exception to the rule. Held at Chez Josef in Agawam, the night was a scene to remember. The "Enchanted Evening" was filled with delectable delights and romantic interludes. The rain may have been pouring down on the outside but inside, the only thing pouring down was the sweat from all the dancing going on. The evening was filled with magical memories that no one will ever forget.

Melina Reilly approaches Mr. Castendyk with her test. If you produce a few tears, maybe, just maybe, he'll give you those two points you needed for that "A."

The most unlikely crew to see at the library? Neil Drexhage gives Kyle Banks and Michael Starr a few tips on solving a Reimann Sum while Nick Harrington just picks his teeth with a paper-clip.

studying, studying...

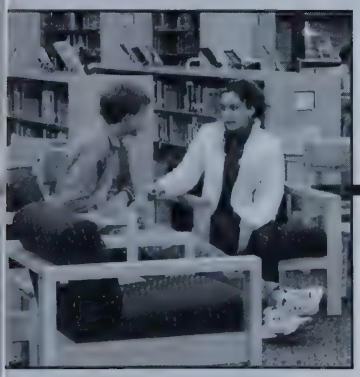
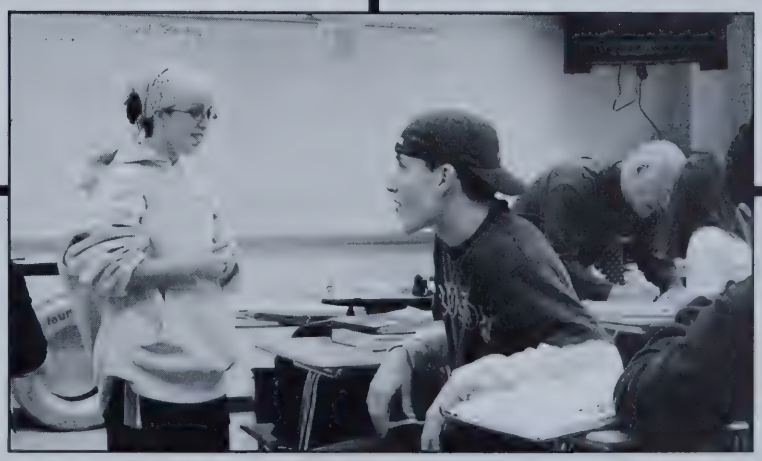
It is what school is about after all. Studying! That dreaded word. Why can't school be about socializing? Why can't it be about catching up with your friends, making new friends, playing games and sports? Why does this this "school-work" thing have to get in the way of what could be a great place to "hang out?" I'll tell you why. No matter what we, the students, would like to have here at school, the inevitable will always prevail. School is a place to learn. It is a place to stretch our legs and our brains. It is a place to find out all there is to know about the American Revolution and how it impacted our forefathers. Where else could we learn the impact of mixing sodium and sulfuric acid? What about Pascal, or Pythagoras? Would we have ever heard about these famous Mathematicians if it weren't for our math classes here? Would we be able to read and write effectively? Would we have had the opportunity to express ourselves through art or music? Would we have had the opportunity to learn a skill like electrical or carpentry that we could use in the world? I'm guessing no. The academics here at Tantasqua are the the most valuable commodity a school could offer. We may complain about all the studying and homework but in the long run, it'll all be worth every minute spent!

Ashley Stevens, Mike Sprouse and Mike Korch are totally engrossed in this class. Ashley's daydreaming, Mike Sprouse is pretending to read the notes he hasn't taken and Mike Korch is playing with his binder. They're going to do well on tomorrow's test!



Most library's are for taking out books, doing research, reading or just studying. The library at THS does all of these things but also doubles as a place for meeting that special someone.

What could be more fun than spending your afternoon in Mr. Hitov's help-session? Ummm - going home maybe?



Hannah Depew takes advantage of the fact that Mr. Castendyk is too busy to notice her out of her seat. She sneaks over to have a little convo with Sean Marino. Shouldn't you be working on that assignment?

our crazy selves

Goofiness, one of the many different expressions that people show. Everyone in the world has at some point been goofy. Some of us were unfortunate enough to have our wild side forever entrapped in the swift shutter of a camera. To these poor souls we honor this page in hopes that you escape your depression from the embarrasment by laughing at the people who were as misfortunate as you to be caught in the goober stage. So wipe the tears from your eyes and get the red out of your cheeks and have a long hard laugh at the people who you definately wouldn't want to be right now because even if you have had a "funny moment" caught in a picture, at least it won't be in the yearbook for forever and ever to come.

everything in sight..

If there's one thing teenagers know how to do well it's eating! In the time period of twelve years old until they turn eighteen, teens turn into sort of eating machines. Whether it's lunch at 8:00am or pizza and soda at midnight, teens love to eat. On any given day, one can usually find a Tantasqua student either participating in this favorite pastime or working in an establishment that promotes the food frenzy. From Friendly's to Village Pizza, Napoli's to the Publik House, students at Tantasqua really get involved with food.

Take a look at a typical day in any given classroom - whether it's 8am or 10am, teachers can hear the moans and groans of hungry students as they await lunch. Imagine the chaos when a student arrives selling candy or any kind of food for that matter as a fund-raiser. Students go nuts! Unfortunatley, there's no food or drink allowed anywhere at THS except for in the cafeteria. Students just have to wait. And wait they do...

As we all grow older, grabbing a bite to eat with friends becomes a much anticipated social event. It's a highlight of dating, a family gathering or simply a night out with friends. No matter what the case, students at Tantasqua seem to have mastered the technique as can be seen here in these pictures! Bon Appetite!

YUMMM! Meatloaf!

Beth Grimes and Abby Mulligan eating America's favorite pastime... Pizza!

Kamil Piascik appears to be enjoying that cake. Not the piece of cake - the ENTIRE cake!

Hydration is key. Especially when you're out on the slopes of Mt. Wachusett. Keep up on those fluids girls!

Having already eaten half of the large pizza, Rachel Denning decides it's time to dive into that homework she's been putting off.

What better time to eat than at a party!

Is that a tub of Ben & Jerry's?!

Mikey Huges shows off his oral speaking skills to the crowd with a dynamic speech.

Erik Schmitt has yet to find a home for himself. That's a shiny grocery carriage you've got there!

Was there no heat in the auditorium? The lovely emcees, Kate Cessna & Emily Ferron did a great job of keeping the events moving along in a timely fashion.

As if Kyle Banks in a dress isn't enough - we have Kyle in a dress being bench pressed by Ryan Morrissey. Spotters are Ryan Ferro and Mike Sprouse.

It's a Jeep thing...You wouldn't understand!

COMPETING

for the crown!

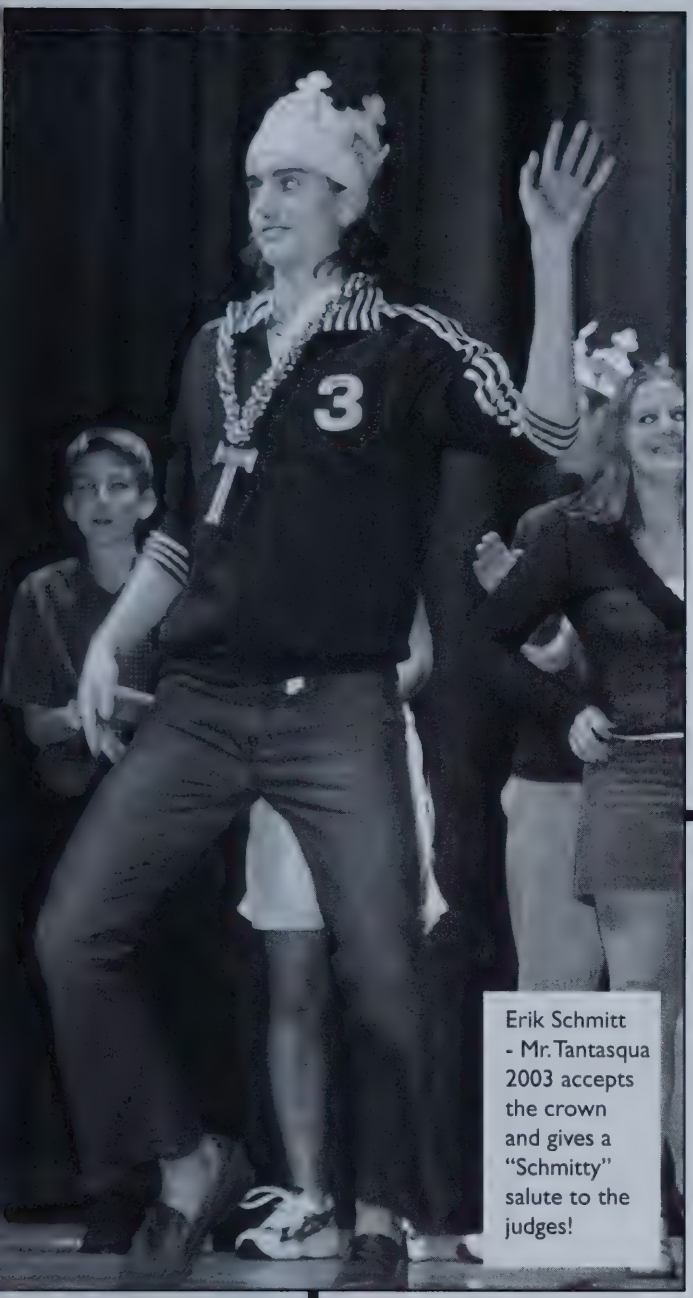
The Mr. Tantasqua Pageant determines just who is the finest specimen of masculinity that Tantasqua has to offer. This year we had 9 contestants, ranging from charming (Aaron Van Dolson) to the bizarre (Erik Schmitt).

The tumultuous preparation leading up to the show left organizers wondering - would it be a success? It was. Gorgeous emcees, Kate Cessna and Emily Ferron ushered the show along smoothly as eight seniors and one freshman showcased themselves.

No one will forget the highlights of the show: K.J.'s hot mom, the poetry stylings of Neil Drexhage, the mouthwatering swimsuit competition, Brett's stellar drum solo, and Marlie Liro getting cut in half during Jon & K.J.'s magic act, to name a few. That's not even including the eclectic performances of the 2003 winner - senior, Erik Schmitt, who was rewarded with a handsome "T" pendant after his musical stylings and motor scooter madness. Congratulations on a job well done to all the contestants and a big salute to Mr. Tantasqua 2003 - Erik Schmitt.



Erik Schmitt - Mr. Tantasqua 2003 accepts the crown and gives a "Schmitty" salute to the judges!

What was your favorite part of the show?

faviana arena
sophomore

"The poems were funny and Erik Schmitt was really funny."

joy richard
senior

"I liked the part where Erik Schmitt rode the scooter and played the saxaphone."

Brett Fitzgibbons rocks the house with his drum solo. Now that's talent!

All of the Mr. Tantasqua contestants line up for the most anticipated moment. Who will be crowned?

Neil Drexhage and Erik Schmitt breaking it down...

Now wait a minute. Before we started this whole thing you said you could magically make my hair grow back! What do you mean you were kidding?

If we try really hard, I bet we can fit at least thirty more people into this hallway.

Oh My God! You're all here to celebrate MY birthday?! Sara Jane McKinstry figures out that this party is actually for her.

Is it the three Musketeers? No, it's just Corey Cooke, Justine Lindsey and Kara Wassmer.

reminiscing

about our childhood...

Remember when the first day of school meant shopping for the coolest lunch box? Remember when Saturday mornings were reserved soley for watching cartoons? Remember when you had a "cubbie" to put your things in at school instead of a locker? Remember when you scored that first goal, got your first hit, made your first save in the big game against your best friend? Remember when MTV actually showed videos? Remember when the summer seemed to drag on and on?

The past is something we should revel in. It's not something to forget. As we grow older, time seems to go faster and faster and these memories of childhood get dimmer and dimmer. We should all take a few moments to bring ourselves back in time - back to our innocence. Back to a time when playing outside with our friends was more important than sitting in front of the computer playing video games. A time when winning wasn't everything. Though we make new memories with each passing day, it's the memories of our past that keep us young today.

A strange turn of events occured at this birthday party. What began as a fun filled day of pin the tail on the donkey has turned into madness. Dave Tourtelotte, Mike Richards, Michael Sprouse, Neil Schelin, Dan Attella and Darryl Collette appear to have entered another dimension. Let's hope future birthdays weren't celebrated the same way!

Kate Milner and Ali Ayers don't look TOO excited to finally be done with the sixth grade!

Whatever happened, Shane Skowyra seems to think it was pretty funny. Jill Boone doesn't think so though!

How many people can you name in this picture? See page 129 for the answers.

tricking or treating...

Five little pumpkins sitting on the fence. The first one said, "My it's getting late." The second one said "There are witches in the air." The third one said "Well we don't care."

The fourth one said "Let's run and run and run." The fifth one said, "It's only Halloween fun!" Oooooh went the wind and OUT went the lights and the five little pumpkins rolled out of sight.

What's more fun than a little Halloween saying? How about a gymnasium filled with creepy, crawly teenagers? That's what I thought! The annual Halloween dance, hallway decorating contest and students dressing up made its way into Tantasqua again this year. No other day of the year can a student come to school looking like a creature from another planet. No wait - don't they look like that everyday? Overall the day went off without a hitch. The hallways were covered with cobwebs and spiders, the classrooms were complete with goblins and ghouls and the gymnasium entertained the student body by hosting a fabulous dance. Another Halloween to go down in the books.

Cameron Schapp has a STRANGE look on his face. Is that blood on your lips Cameron? YIKES!

Okay, Kayla Moran is either a Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtle or a waffle. You decide!

AHH! It's Zenon and Nebula!!! My two most favorite characters from the Disney Channel! No wait - it's just Megan Conners and Kathleen Podles. Bummer!

an inside look

What's your favorite thing about Halloween?

jesse banford
senior
"Weird people."

chelsea richard
junior
"Sporting a huge afro, flashing the bling-bling and acting like a pimp... what could be better?"

lauren bouley
junior
"I enjoy dressing up and going out with friends."

"You're under arrest!" Emily Ferron (the cop) places Rebecca Anderson under arrest and cuffs her for not having her math homework done! And you thought the English teachers were tough!

Mark Randall dressed in his fine boa gets some advice from his guardian angel.

Who is that beautiful princess with Dan Bonneau and Charles Morse.

Christina Foley, Melody Felton and Sage Foley offer up a variety of costumes. From punk to the elegant evening gown to a look straight from the fifties. These girls really know how to make the most of Halloween fun!

Sabrina Boyd and Sarah Chamberland dance the night away. What fabulous costumes they have. What are they?

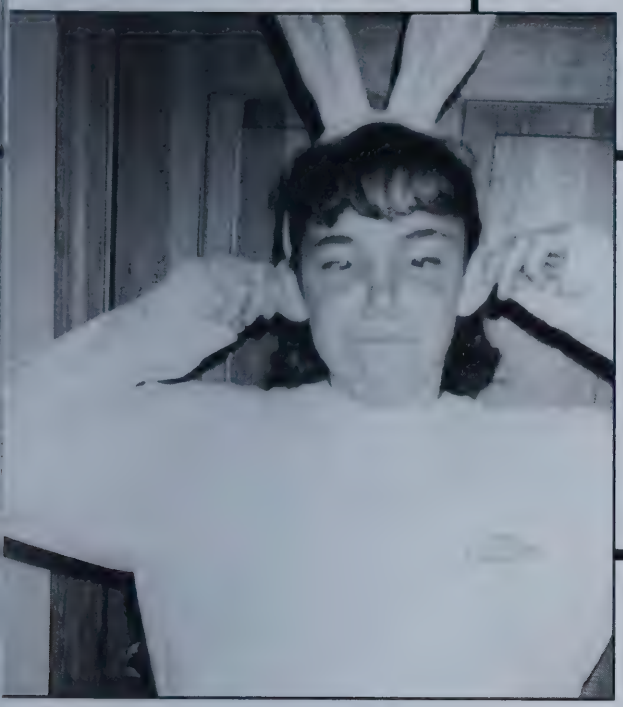
Second Row: Marlie Liro, Taryn Kaitbenski, Carrie Wieland, Vicky Bucknell, Mikey Hughes, Ben Gardner

Top: Sporting their most favorite outfits, Allison St. Clair and Jamie Moore get ready to start their modeling careers. It's off to the runway!

Middle: The Navarro's are either trying to get Muhummad Ali to join the staff at Tantasqua or Ali is trying to get these three into boxing! Either way, it's a win-win situation!

Bottom: Amy McCracken, Megan Conners, and Laura Sherris practice for their big debut on Broadway, or the Las Vegas showgirl scene.

Brian Zisk and Nick Natale gear up in their fireman uniforms for a training exercise. A dream of being a fireman is finally becoming a reality for these two.



Dreaming of one day taking over for the Easter Bunny, Kim Ramsdell puts on her bunny ears and shows her best bunny impression during her job interview.

If we try really hard, we can blend right in with this statue. Maybe Walt Disney World will realize our talent and give us a job at the Magic Kingdom as one of the many statues there. There's no harm in wishing!

Krystin Gavin & Sarah Bidwell look really official up there on the life-guard chair. Wait a minute - there's no-one on the beach. Where are your swimsuits? Hmmm... this is looking a bit suspiscious.

trying out

possible careers...

High school is a time to start thinking about that inevitable question. What do you want to be when you grow up? We were all asked that question when we were young. The difference now? We're not as young anymore. The "when you grow up" portion of that question is just about here. We are almost grown up. High school graduation will come and then some of us will be off to college (our way of prolonging that question.) Others will be off to the military and some will be heading into the workforce. No matter what path we choose, we will all have to face that question. What ARE we going to be? What will we do? What are we interested enough in to make it our career? High school is meant to prepare us for life in the world but it also should give us enough exposure so that we can make educated decisions about our future. We work hard to learn about math and science, history and english. Some of us are being trained with skills like computer repair and maintenance or cooking and nursing. Whatever our background may be, we all have to make that decision at some point in our lives.

Seen here on these pages, students of Tantasqua begin to ponder that exact question. They, however, seem to take their pondering to the next step and actually attempted to start their careers early. Let's hope the world is ready for the likes of each and every one of them. Let's also hope that they realize that these dreams may not be reality in all cases and they may have to look a little harder to find that career that was meant for them. There's no harm in dreaming though so keep those dreams alive!

signs of life after THE BELL

Ashley Shoum tries to tell Michaela Fowler what needs to get done for Thoma Jefferson Forum, but Michaela is too busy posing for a picture.

It's 2:02 and the bell to go home rings, but for some people the bell only means another one to three hours in school. It's not forced on them, but a choice. It's a choice to particpate in the enhancement of the school. From community service programs to clubs devoted in their entirety to school subjects, Tantasqua has a club or group for everyone to feel accepted in. After school activities are great places to meet new people and make new friends. The same people that you see on an everyday basis become vibrant, lively people. They take new and unexpected forms and place their energy into projects. When it comes to extracurricular actiivities, everyone has a place where they fit in. Whether it's a governmental role in student council, helping raise money for cancer research in the Thomas Jefferson Forum, or even working 22 and a half hours each week on yearbook, everyone can be accepted somewhere and make their voices heard. Extracurricular activities aren't just good for college resumes, but they also help to build personality. Different activities are good for different characteristics. Ski club helps physically, Passages helps creativity, Spanish Club makes people more culturally aware, and the Gay Straight Alliance brings discriminations to the surface and helps break the predjudice. So while some people go home and sleep or go to work, the "after schoolers" remain in their home away from home and continue working.

> "When it comes to extracurricular activities, everyone has a place where they fit in."

Kyle Banks and Chris Freniere use their magical soccer powers to overcome their competitors.

with the pain comes the GLORY

Emily Ferron steals the ball from her opponent. Now that she has the ball, it's up to her to get it into the net.

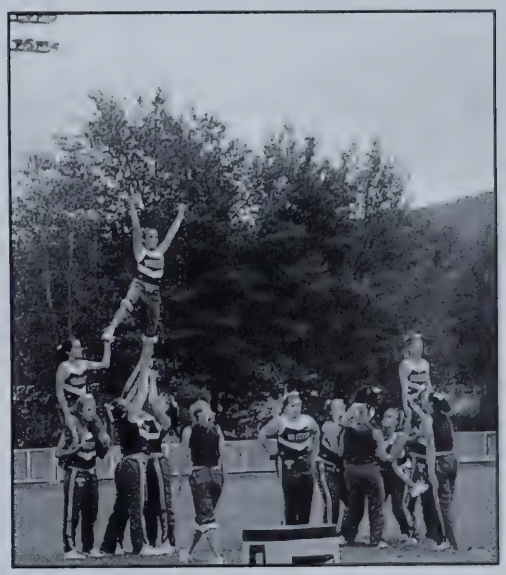
Sports, one of the few things that every country in the world has in common. From China to Japan, England to Spain, everyone plays sports. Tantasqua is no exception to this rule. There are a variety of games to partake in football, field hockey, golf, basketball, and soccer are just a few. Modern day gladiators, athletes endure the pain of defeat, the glory of overcoming their obstacles, and the punishing sting of their injuries. Win or lose, the athlete knows that they have tried their best and in the end a satisfying sigh of relief can be breathed from their tired and aching bodies. Not all the athletes are chosen to compete, but the ones that are chosen are the unofficial ambassadors of Tantasqua. Whether they make it to districts (like the boys' soccer team) or walked away empty handed they represented us well. Even the most unathletic person can take pride in our teams. It isn't easy to run a mile in five minutes or score a touchdown, but somewhere inside them the Tantasqua athletes find the strength needed to do these incredible feats. So with the most sincere gratitude, Tantasqua thanks and honors the athletes for their determination and perseverance.

> "Modern day gladiators, athletes endure the pain of defeat, the glory of overcoming their obstacles, and the punishing sting of their injuries."

After throwing the golf ball down the fairway, Josh Cortis notices the camera and strikes a pose.

Katie Butler is in the lead. Can she hold the number one position or will Beth Grimes be able to pass her?

The Warriors, after giving up on trying to get the touchdown, have decided that they are going to just try to get the down and see what happens from there.



The Tantasqua cheerleaders get the crowd pumped for the second half of the football game.

The boys' team takes off running together as a team. With this kind of teamwork, it's difficult for the competition to overtake them. Nice work boys!

RUNNING with the wind

The motto of the Girls' Cross Country team this year was "Drive for Five." On some days, it was what pushed us when we did not feel like we had it in us to run that day. But meet after meet, when the wins started coming in, our hard work was paying off and everyone could see it. With Kristen Wood, captain Krystin Gavin, Julianne Mason and Megan Connors leading the pack, SWCL champs became a reality when we defeated Shepard Hill, but many new incoming freshmen proved that when this season ended, SWCL champs, six years in a row could be an option for the next year's season.

The Boys' Cross Country team brought in another excellent season. Although the boys started off slow, captain Ryan Stevens led the team to a 8-2 record. One of the saddest days was when the boys lost against Shepard Hill, but it was soon forgotten as the boys came back and beat them at the league meet. This win was a perfect example of how determined the guys were all season long.

"The highlight of my season was when I shot a 78 at the SWCL Tournament and placed 9th overall."

This year the golf team had a shaky start of the season by starting out with a record of 0-7. The team overcame the odds and won an amazing 8 of the last 13 matches during the second half of the season. The team really pulled together during the season and grew as individuals as well, improving their game to a higher standard than any of them could have imagined. The first win of the season came against Northbridge and was followed by a fury of wins against some teams including Quaboag, Leicester, and Bartlett. The team was very proud of how they turned their season around and turned it into a winning season in their eyes.

SCORING goals

The boys' varsity soccer program has always been a very strong and successful program at Tantasqua. This year was no exception. With a record of 14 - 6 (13 - 5 in the regular season), the boys' varsity team placed second in the league and was seeded sixth in the Division II District Tournament. Although plagued with injuries and a few unlucky losses, the Warriors ended the season with a strong finish. With the experience and guidance of coach Keith Ventimiglia, along with the leadership of our eight seniors, the Warriors were able to post one of the most impressive records in recent school history. As captian, I want to thank all of my teammates for a truly memorable senior year of soccer, and to wish them the best of luck in the years to come.

- Ryan Morrissey, Captain

Ryan Morrissey

"We don't mess around. We play to win, and that's just what we do."

SHARP shooting

Tantasqua Girls' Varsity Soccer had yet, another difficult season. Their record of 4-11-3 did not reflect the hard work and dedicated effort put into this team. With a new coach, Mr. Khoury, the team improved in so many different aspects. Not only did the skill level of each player increase, but the attitude and desire to improve as a team also grew to new heights. The team this year was led by senior captains, Marlie Liro and Taryn Kaitbenski, senior, Kimmie Predella and junior captain, Jaimie McKearney. Although the team will really miss the three seniors after losing them to graduation, the Girls' Varsity team is looking to really turn things around next year. This year was a building year. The team's potential showed through in the Homecoming win against Oxford and the tie against Northbridge under the lights. Even though the record was not outstanding, everyone who was a part of this team was very close, and that is what made the 2003 season quite memorable.

FIXING to win

The Tantasqua Warriors' football season was filled with ups and downs for the entire team. All of the warrior players, including the eight seniors, Mark Misiaszek, Nick Natale, Mickey Dawson, John Arsenault, Chad Biron, T.J. Robinson, Shane Skowyra and Mike Carroll fought hard for a win in the first game. Unfortunately, the team lost their last ten games with close defeats to Southbridge, Oakmont and Bartlett. However, no loss was greater than the one suffered earlier that summer when the warriors lost their dedicated friend and teammate, Nick Ledoux. We played hard in memory of Nick and we will never forget him.

The 2003 Tantasqua Field Hockey team had a tremendous season this year finishing with a record of 16-2-2. The team made it to the district semi-finals in which they played a great game and only lost by one goal. The team's success was a result of hard work, dedication, and the will to win. The season was full of hard work, but also with laughter. The girls had a strong bond this year, which helped them to succeed. There was trust between the players on and off the field. The forward line did an awesome job using all of their opportunities to score, while the midfielders worked very hard to keep the ball in the offensive end, and the defense did a great job of making sure the ball stayed out of the defensive circle. Everyone worked together to form a winning team. Overall, it was a terrific season; it was the best field hockey season in Tantasqua history.

A little huddle before the game keeps everyone in spirit. Here the varsity team offers a little pep-talk!

bringing down the house

This year's football season went very well. This is my last year cheering for the Warrior football team and it makes me sad. I once was that little girl who looked up to the other "older" cheerleaders and it makes me sad that I'll no longer be that older cheerleader that everyone else looks up to. Being a captain has been a big responsibility because of all the time needed to do things like calling everyone, making music to do our cheers to, and hoping everyone agrees to it. My favorite part of this season was the way all the girls stuck together, even when we had to change the routine that had been in place since I was a freshman. This program has grown immensly over the past few years, and I am happy that the Junior Varsity team is looking greater than ever!

RUNNING and leaping

The indoor track team continued to be very successful this year. Both girls and boys won the SWCL West Championship. The girls placed third in the league meet while the boys placed fifth. We had many individual league winners as well, including two record-breaking 4x400 teams. Cria Picco won two events at the league meet and Sean Marino and Pam Glennon each won their respective events. The teams will send about 30 athletes to the district meet. Many athletes are looking to compete at the state division III championships and all-states as well. This year's captains, Ryan Morrissey, Ben Gardner, Noel Diaz, Mike Sprouse, Abby Mulligan, Dani Ryder, Julianne Mason and Pam Glennon did a great job of keeping the teams motivated and united.

The 2003-2004 basketball season was chuck full of some very exciting games. We played well as a team but were led by some very talented players. On top of that list is Kevin Vayda who led the warrior team in overall points for the season. Not far behind Kevin were Kris Johnson and Greg Zini who seem to have mastered the elusive three-point shot. On the defensive end, Nathan Walker was a wall that couldn't be broken when it came to boxing out and getting those rebounds. Of course, none of these players could have their moment of glory if it weren't for the assistance of players like Sean Malvey who feeds them the ball. And, finally - Jon Penny who upholds the true spirit of the team and keeps everyone united.

Teamwork is key to a successful season. As we can see here, this team has no problem with unity. A salute for a win!

the competition

The warrior ladies had a great season this year. They will go to districts again, and they hope to be heading to Worcester Polytechnic Institute for the semifinals again for the third year in a row. The team is very spread out in age this year with six seniors, three juniors, three sophomores and one freshman. With all this young talent, next year's team will be a viable contender in the Southern Worcester County League. Led by the senior captains, Jillian Beaulieu, Katie Butler and Krystin Gavin, this year's team has been a united force to contend with.

STRIKING out the competition

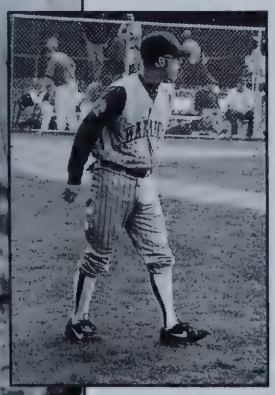
Coach Farrell gives the team a little pep-talk between innings. Now go out there and WIN this game!



Last year's 2003 baseball team was different from the years before. In 2003, we did not make the playoffs and we lost numerous players from the 2002 season. Most people looked at it as a reloading season. While the record may not have shown it (14-6), there was an immense amount of talent on the team. Then senior, Drew Cronin and junior, John Van Dolson did a great job leading the team. Coach Farrell, as always did a great job coaching - especially in 2003 when he had a large number of people with a lot of talent that needed developing. We lost our first 11 games but went 4-5 after that, a marked improvement. The 2004 season will only get better!

Warrior catcher, Taryn Kaitbenski makes her way down the team line offering moral support and a bit of spirit to get the Lady Warriors pumped for the game.

STEALING the glory

Under the direction of head coach Phil Lagerstrom and assistant coach Pete Casini, the 2003 Tantasqua Girls' Varsity Softball team had more than just a successful season. With seven seniors on the thirteen person team, the Warriors had a lot of experience both on and off the field. With captian and senior pitcher, Joanna Donato on the mound, the team made it to districts in the tenth seed. The winning record wasn't the only thing the team had though, the girls had spirit, determination and perseverence. The team was very close and when we lost, we lost together. When someone made a mistake, it was everyone's fault. As for those who did not graduate, they're looking forward to the 2004 season. It is going to be difficult filling the positions of the seniors who graduated, but the commitment and drive to succeed still lives in the girls that who are left, making the upcoming season exciting!

- Marlie Liro & Taryn Kaitbenski

DOMINATING the court

Another year (sigh), another SWCL title for the Warrior Boys' Tennis team. Led by first year coach, Chuck Hamparian, senior Jeff McKearney and junior Mikey Hughes, the Warriors cruised to an 18 - 4 record, captured their 9th straight SWCL title, and had six SWCL All-Stars. Unfortunately, their season ended prematurely with a loss in the second round of districts to the eventual Central Mass champion, Bromfield. Looking forward to the 2004 season, the Warrior boys guarantee a Central Mass Championship with six returning seniors. Seniors, Neil Drexhage and Greg Zini plan on continual domination on the rest of the doubles teams in the league. Erik Schmitt hopes to break records, and racquets throughout the season. Todd Adams and Ben Wood hope to bring their games to higher levels. Mikey Huges hopes to get a nice tan, oh, and win a lot of matches. They also plan on obtaining SWCL title #10... and looking good while doing it!

SERVING up another ACE

Starting the 2003 season, the girls' expectations were questionable due to losing five starters from the previous year. The girls knew that a lot of hard work was in store if they wanted to live up to the prior successful season. Many members of the team stepped up in the off season which made all the difference. The Lady Warriors finished first in SWCL and the districts and went on to the state finals. Along with the spectacular starters and fabulous coach, making it to the state finals was no sweat. We wish the seniors who are leaving us well and hope that next season brings the same success that was seen in the 2003 season.

RAISING the bar

Nathan Walker soars over the high jump in another winning attempt!

Both boys and girls track teams were very successful this year as both teams claimed SWCL titles. The boys team went undefeated during the season and won Division 2 relays, while the girls placed 3rd in Division 1. Leading the boys were Babe Predella, Adam Carroll, Evan Moore, Ben Gardner and Nick Ledoux. The girls efforts were led by Krystin Gavin and Pam Glennon as well as countless others whose efforts were needed for an entire team win. This year the teams had the most athletes participate in the district meet than ever before. Two athletes continued on to the New England meet. This was Coach Benoit's final season and he will be missed greatly.

The butterfly-stroke is one of the most diffucult and demanding strokes in swimming. Cassandra Klimczuk appears to do it with ease.

just SPLASHING around

The second season of the Tantasqua Swim Team has shown a great improvement from the year before. The team went forth to beat Leominster and did not finish too far behind the other teams in the league. Each and every swimmer on the team put forth one hundred percent effort in every event in an attempt to make up for the fact that we had fewer swimmers this year than we did last season. As swimming is a up and coming sport here at Tantasqua, the future is looking bright. More and more people will be joining the team and that will make Tantasqua a force to be reckoned with in the pool.

Kathleen Podles and Kimmie Predella look extremely anxious as they watch their teammates.

On your mark... get set... go! Tantasqua is off and swimming!

"The biggest accomplishment of our swim team this year was sending so many people to sectionals compared to last year. Also, almost beating Bromfield, but they only won because of their diver!"

"The highlight of the season was getting my one-hundred yard freestyle time back down to 1:18."

"I feel like Bond, James Bond with two women by my side."

Let's Just Be RaNdom

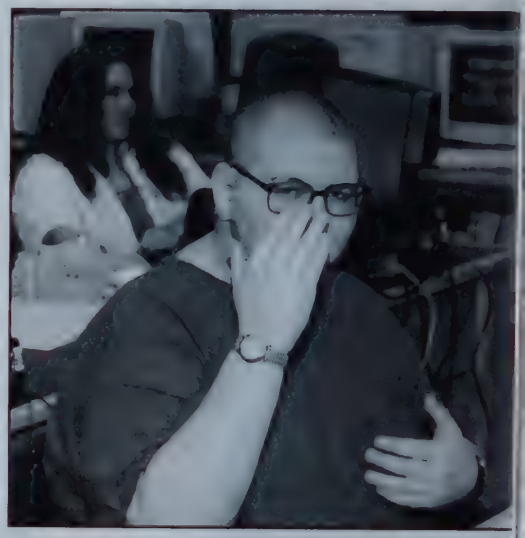
What's more important at this time in your life than your friends?

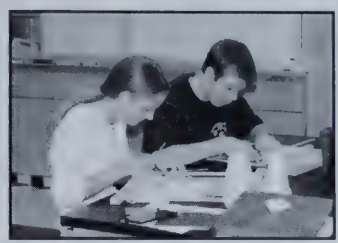
Damian Evangelous is surrounded by his admirerers.



Is John holding back a sneeze or trying desperately not to have his picture taken. You decide.

A quick break between classes give students at THS a breif moment to socialize.

"I hear you making cookies. Now let's see if I can taste them."



"I wonder if the teacher will notice we aren't taking our test?"

"These two had no idea the kind of work that goes into weaving a blanket.?"

Carrie,
It seems like only yesterday,
Was the day that you were born,
Chrissy, dad and I knew at that moment,
Our love for you would never be torn.
Your sports, extra activities and friendships,
Have been cherished for all your years,
And the successes you have brought to many,
Will be remembered without any tears.
You are on your way to a new greatness,
The future is in your hands,
Always remember we love you dearly,
And are with you wherever you stand.
You will always be our lil wiel,
Our care bear and our youngest one,
You are one terrific daughter, sister, and friend to all,
Take pride and triumph, in all that you can become!
Love, Mom & Dad

CARRIE,
You already know how I feel about you and our relationship. You're my lil'sis, my dependent companion and my best friend. I am always here for you when you need advise, a second opinion or a shoulder to cry on. Thank you for giving me the same pleasures. I love you more than words can say.
Love Always,
Your Big Sis, Chris

Jacob,

Success comes in many forms. Whatever form you choose, we pray it brings you happiness. On the road of choosing, remember anyone can make money, however, it's more of a challenge making a difference. Life is full of choices, never regrets. If it's good, it's wonderful. If it's bad, it's experience. Remember Jacob, you can accomplish anything as long as you put your mind to it. We believe in you! Your family will always be there to love and support you no matter what!!

Conratulations and God Bless

MICHAEL AND JESSICA

There's so much fun in having two
With twice as many points of view.
So much alike, forever linked,
And yet they're also quite distinct.

They share a birthday and a name,
But moods and tempers aren't the same.
Although at times they may dispute,
Their loyalty is absolute.

From days of youth until life is done,
It's one for both and both for one.
We're all quite novel and precise,
But special people – God mad twice.

Thank you for the past 18 years.
You have brought more pride and joy
into our lives than you will ever know.
All our love,
Mom and Dad

Congratulations Peter!

It seems like just yesterday you were born... and now you're graduating from high school. Thank you for the abundance of love and joy you have given us over the past eighteen years. We cherish those memories... well, minus the habitual car wrecks and insurance hikes which followed shortly thereafter! May you achieve the happiness and success which you are so deserving of on your new journey. We love you sweetheart!

BEST WISHES
CLASS OF 2004!

Dear Jerry,
First of all, Congrats Bud - you did it! It has been a wonderful experience watching you grow into the great young man you have become. We only wish that you get half as much joy out of life as we have gotten out of watching you become who you are. Thank you for being you, exactly how you are! Your life is your adventure. Enjoy it, dream big, be healthy and always be happy!

With all our love - Mom & Dad

It all ends HERE...

It all ends here. This is where one journey ends and where our past is made into memories. From here we remember high school.

It all ends here. Only a couple of years of living with our parents remain. Our dependency on their care is ending.

It all ends here. This is the last stop before you get on the rollercoaster. This is the time to see if friendships last. After this we're seperated from each other.

It all ends here. These are our final days of silent voices. We will no longer be regarded as a conformed group, but as individuals; molded by our accomplishments and defeats.

It all ends here. We were the children who did as we were told. We were the adolescents that thrived on chaos. We are the future.

It all ends here...

from the a word EDITOR

Kate Milner
Editor-in-Chief

Corey Cooke
Assistant Editor

Tracy Wicker
Adviser

Last June, before school got out, yearbook had it's first couple of meetings. At those meetings we had to decide what the cover would look like and more importantly who the editor would be. There were five people who wanted to become editor. Julianne Mason, Ashley Shoum, Kayla Moran, Corey Cooke and myself were the applicants for the position. As I'm sure you can tell, I got the editor position and Corey got the assistant-editor spot. So first off, I want to thank Ms. Wicker for giving me a chance and picking me to be editor. Secondly I want to thank everyone who worked on yearbook. Thanks to:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Ashley Shoum | Corey Cooke | Mallory Shocik |
| Kayla Moran | Alison Ayers | Mike Korch |
| Julianne Mason | Lissy Van Dolson | Laura Sherris |
| Ryan Russell | Amanda Cyr | Val Faye |
| Nicole Currie | Emily Thurlow | Heather Scott |

I also want to give a special thanks to Chris Fasser, Elise Casaubon, and Kelly Smith for helping identify the majority of the people in the activity photos. A big thank you goes to Kim Ramsdell who helped get most of the pictures and interviews for the Technical Section. I also want to thank all the people who did write ups for the sports section. Finally, a huge thanks to Michaela Fowler, Ashley Bernier, and Megan Smith who stayed after almost everyday and worked/kept me company until 3:30. I appreciate your hard work and dedication to the yearbook. Lastly I want to leave a word of advice to anyone who wants to be the future editor, get rid of your life. You will be so busy with yearbook that you won't have time for a life outside of it, except on the weekends but you may still have to work on it then. You are going to be after school until 5 o'clock everyday. On top of that you are going to be working for an hour and a half in an internship. So clear your schedule if you want to do this.

- Kate Milner
